We will protect your privacy and the security of your personal information by taking steps to ensure that your personal information is protected against misuse, interference and loss, and unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

We also use a variety of physical and technological security measures to protect the personal information we hold.

We may hold your personal information in a number of ways including electronically and in physical format.

Electronic copies of records will be kept in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Privacy Act and Health Records Act and applicable electronic transactions legislation.

When your personal information is no longer required (and in the case of your health information, the information has been retained for the required periods under the HPPs, otherwise under law) we will take steps to securely destroy the information or to ensure that the information is permanently de-identified.

QUALITY OF THE PERSONAL INFORMATION WE HOLD

We take reasonable steps to ensure that the personal information we collect, use and disclose is accurate, up-to-date, complete, and relevant to our functions and activities. You can assist us in keeping your personal information accurate by informing us of any updates to your personal information using our contact details below.

DATA BREACHES

We are required to comply with mandatory 'notifiable data breach' scheme (the NDB scheme) under the Privacy Act. The NDB scheme applies when an 'eligible data breach' of personal information occurs.

An 'eligible data breach' occurs when:

- there is unauthorised access to or unauthorised disclosure of personal information, or a loss of personal information, that an organisation holds; and
- this is likely to result in serious harm to one or more individuals; and
- the organisation has not been able to prevent the likely risk of serious harm with remedial action.

An organisation may take remedial steps to prevent the likelihood of serious harm occurring for any affected individuals after a data breach has occurred, in which case, the data breach is not an 'eligible data breach'.

If we have reasonable grounds to believe that we have experienced an eligible data breach (and remedial action cannot be used), we will promptly notify affected individuals and the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner about the breach in accordance with the Privacy Act.

CAN YOU ACCESS AND CORRECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

You may request to access the personal information that we hold about you using our contact details below.

In certain circumstances, we may refuse to allow you access to your personal information where this is authorised by the law, such as where: providing access would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of other individuals; or providing access would pose a serious threat your life or health; or giving access would be unlawful.

We take all reasonable steps to ensure that the personal information we collect, use and disclose is accurate, up-to-date and complete, relevant and not misleading.

If you believe that the personal information we hold about you requires correction, you may request that the information be corrected using our contact details below.

If we refuse your request for access or correction, we will provide you with reasons for the refusal in writing, and details about how you may seek review of our decision.
